

Table with multiple columns containing alphanumeric codes, numbers, and dates. The table is organized into several vertical sections, likely representing different administrative or legal categories. Each row contains a sequence of numbers and alphanumeric strings, possibly representing document identifiers or classification codes.